Scene from a Chocolate Soldier, Daly's Opera House, Friday, October 24

AT DALY'S THEATRE FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24th

The principal tenor of "The Chocolate Soldier," who sings and enacts the part of "Alcius," the egotistical hero is Jack Phillips, who played the "Chocolate Soldier" role in the company that went on tour playing Shaw and Strains' great comic opera. Mr. Phillips' career is indeed interesting, he being a Baptist minister's son who has a high place upon the lyric stage by reason of his excellent voice and pleasing personality. He played leading parts in "The Rose of Panama," "The Anskan," and with Alice Neilson in "Kittie Dalling." He was principal tenor for one season at the "Elvii" in San Francisco, and has appeared in every American city where first class comic opera goes, and is a recognized favorite.

Another feature with this production is the chorus of singers which carried Mr. Dunbar, as a result of his many years of theatrical activity believes that every person on his payroll must deliver to the people that rally to his standard, his very best contribution to musical art, and besides must have that subtle grace which we call personality. The result is a company of cultured young people who sing eloquently in such numbers as "My Hero," and the stirring strains of this most tuneful excerpt linger long with every music lover.

BURNING MONEY

By Walt Mason

Life is gay and blithe and sunny, since the pence dove hit the breeze; everyone is burning money just as though it grew on trees. I insist on this and say, but there's none to heed my words; phonies say that I am raving, and throw money to the birds. Men are drawing princely wages, and their brows are filled with mirth, and they joy foreboding sages who predict a day of dearth; but that day will come as surely as tomorrow's sun will rise; things will then be going poorly with the giddy spendthrift guys. Things won't boom along forever, as they're burning money, my friends, and the man who's truly clever saves as shrewdly as he spends. It is prudent to the knowledge, in expansive times like these, that the kopecks won't be growing always on the shrubs and trees. There will come a day of trouble when this boom is left behind, and the kopeck and the rouble will be mighty hard to find; happy then the lads whose wages have been safely placed in brine, who obeyed the score and sages, who the saving grant was fine. And how sick will be the mortals who like spendthrifts now behave, who reply with jeers and choruses when we call on them to save.

THIS USE OF HORSE FLESH

Pittsville Record—Dobbin, in his lifetime, may have worn black or white or tan, or even red, but when he passes over the meat block and presents himself to the housewife in the form of steak or roast, or any thing like that, he will be doctored in iron. The meat inspection service of the United States Department of Agriculture, in order to comply with the provision of the law that horse meat shall be conspicuously marked has decided to stamp the meat with a harmless green ink. The Bureau of Animal Industry stamp is distinctly six-sided and bears the words "Horse Meat."

Horse meat is likely to be on the market in appreciable quantities shortly. A report has been received at the Department of Agriculture from Billings, Montana, that initial shipment of a lot of about 2,900 range horses has been received for slaughter. A report from New Mexico says that 50,000 range horses in the state should be slaughtered.

An agricultural journal, recently commenting on the slaughter of horses for meat, said that the elimination of undesirable horses not only will save food for more worthy cattle and sheep and increase meat stocks. Department of Agriculture experts say that hides from range horses that have lived in the open should be of excellent quality.

HORNS INTERLOCKED DEER MEET DEATH

The remains of two buck deer with their horns interlocked were found in the woods near Manitowish recently. The animals had evidently been engaged in a fight when their horns locked together and being unable to free themselves, both died of starvation. That a terrific struggle had taken place was indicated by the condition of the ground in the vicinity. Old woodsmen say that it is not uncommon for deer to meet death in this manner.

MORE FISH PLACED IN LAKE WAUSAU

Wausau Pilot—Another consignment of game fish was brought to Wausau last Wednesday from the locked lakes on the Mississippi waters. The fish were taken by the members of the Wausau Wild Life and Protective association and put into Lake Wausau near the McClary bridge. This makes the second carload placed in the lake this year. The fish consists of bass, croppies, sunfish, perch and cat fish. Our river has naturally plenty of pike and some muscalonge and eventually our lake will be an ideal place for fishing.

COULDN'T FIND PICNIC GROUNDS

At the good roads picnic held at the Brimmer farm near Kilbourn last week the absence of many from the smaller towns along the route was noticeable. However, this is explained to some extent by the Necedah Republican, which tells why Necedah people weren't there. "Grand Rapids business men were responsible for a basket picnic last Sunday, but many from around Necedah missed the function because of the poorly arranged posters. The advertising posters gave the location of the picnic as the Yellow Banks on the Brimmer Farm. No one knew where the Brimmer farm was, but any old logger in town will tell you that the Yellow Banks are in the town of Armonia. Many went north to find the picnic, but it seems the picnic was held below the town. On account of the misunderstanding this section had no representation at the good roads picnic and missed what was probably an enjoyable program."

CABBAGE SEASON GOOD

Pittsville Record—The cabbage industry, one of the best of the Pittsville district, has begun to assert itself. Loads have begun to come into town. The greatest share of this is bought up by Ed. Chick and this is either shipped out immediately or stored in his cabbage house, near the depot. That being hauled to town now is shipped out as it comes, as Mr. Chick considers the weather too warm to store any great amount of cabbage. It is considered best off on the stump until the weather begins to tighten up with frosts every night.

The price for the Danish cabbage is now $15 per ton, delivered; that of the poorer grades, and kraut cabbage, less than half this price. The poorer cabbage has very little sale on the market, except that it is shipped direct to a kraut factory and during the warm weather it would have to be used immediately or spoil.

SCOUTING

There are a lot of boys around this neck of the woods right now who are wondering how they can be Scouts. So I am going to tell you. Joining the Boy Scouts of America is quite a simple proposition but being a REAL SCOUT is a hard job. To become a member of the Boy Scouts of America a boy must be not less than twelve years old and then he finds the nearest troop or patrol and signs up with them. Every church in Grand Rapids is going to have a Troop or a patrol of Scouts. So go to the pastor of your church and ask him about it. If there isn't a troop in your church, you can help get one started.

Now then, having found the troop or started one, there is still a lot of work to do. You must register. This means that you pay a fee of 25c which goes to the National Office and gets you a certificate of membership in the Biggest Boys Club in the World. You are now a Candidate not a Scout as yet. You must now pass the Tenderfoot Test and take the Scout Pledge or Oath as it is sometimes called and then you are really it. Of course you have just started on real Scouting but you are never-the-less a Scout.

You perhaps, want to know what this Tenderfoot Test is. All right here it is. First of all, you must know the Scout laws, motto, sign, salute and the explanation of the Scout Badge.

2. You must know the composition and history of the National Flag and the customary forms of respect due it.

3. And tie the following knots; square or reef; the sheet bend; the bowline; fisherman's; sheepshank; halter; clove hitch; timber hitch; and two half hitches.

You then take the Scout Oath and are entitled to wear the badge of a Tenderfoot.

I will not give the entire Scout Law here as you can find it in the Scout Handbook which you will of course own. It will only cost you forty cents and can be gotten at the bookstore. I want to give you a little verse that was gotten up by a very good friend of mine, who was a good scout and a good soldier. He gave his life for his country and now lies "somewhere in France." This little verse has helped a lot of scouts to remember the Scout Law and that's what it was meant to do. You will notice that the first word of the line is the Word of the Scout Law. Trustworthy Tommy was a Scout.

Loyal to his mother
Helpful to the folks about,
Friendly to his brother
Courteous to the girls he knew
Kind to all his rabbits
Obedient to his teacher, too
Cheerful in his habits
Thrifty—saving for a need—
True, but not a faker
Clean in thought and speech and deed
Reverent to his maker.

HOW JANESVILLE GOT THE UNITED MOTORS CO. PLANT

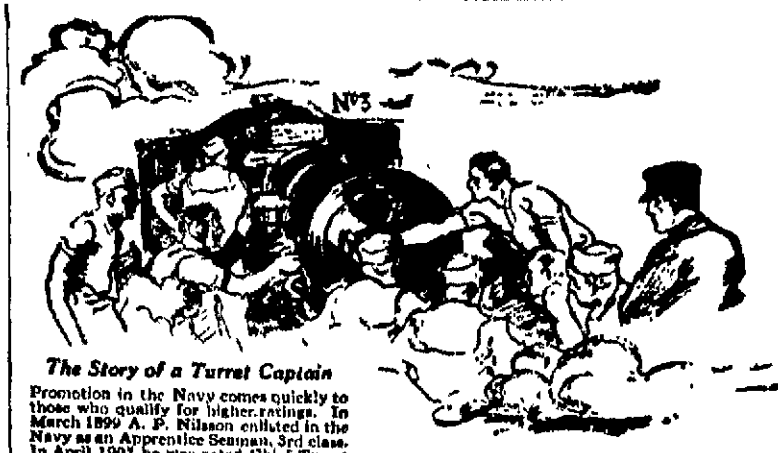

There has been considerable discussion about the city during the past few weeks in regard to many of our local men going to Janesville, and how these could have been kept right here in Grand Rapids had local citizens encouraged the United Motors Corporation in locating their plant in Grand Rapids instead of Janesville. The rumor, which can be heard on any street corner, went on to tell how if Grand Rapids had given the company as much as Janesville did, they would have preferred to come here.

Win. F. Gleue, who travels pretty well over the state in his business, was down at Janesville last week and made it a point to find out how Janesville got the plant. He inquired from everyone he got into touch with from workmen to bank presidents, and substantially told the following story:

"Some time last summer a woman, who appeared to be wealthy, arrived in Janesville looking for a farm location. She stated that she wanted something close to the city and the real estate agents immediately got busy and sold her a strip of low land near one of the railroads. She bought lavishly, taking options on about one thousand acres of this low land after which she left town. When the options were up she returned and paid for the property. However, about this time she began to realize that this low land wasn't suitable for farming and told the real estate man so. They urged her to get some of the higher land around her present property, which was being farmed at that time. She did this and had secured about fifteen hundred acres by that time. She left the city shortly after that leaving real estate men and land owners who had sold her the land chuckling to themselves on how they had got rid of the land which was not considered very valuable, but which they had secured a good price for. A few weeks later representatives of the United Motors Corporation arrived in the city and started preliminary operations for erecting their building, to the surprise of the Janesville people."

The above story is circulated quite freely about Janesville and would indicate that they didn't do a great deal down there to get the plant to locate in their city. The new plant will probably triple the present population of Janesville.

Atrocious, Indeed.
One of the worst puns of history was perpetrated by King James I of England, when Sir Walter Raleigh, whom for political reasons he disliked, was presented to him. Said the king, fixing Raleigh with his cold-enough eye, "Ravely! Ravely! True enough, for I think of thee very Ravely, mon!"

CHOCOLATE SOLDIER SEAT SALE

—Any doubt that this city will not support a two dollar comic open house at the Danbar has been proven in the production of "The Chocolate Soldier" is effectually set at rest by the appearance of the reserve seat board for next Friday, Oct. 24th, when the great comic opera with every detail of cast, chorus, orchestra, scenery, and lighting will be given at Daly's Theatre.

It is only fair to advise those who are going that they should not promptly in the matter of securing seats, for it is a common thing for standing room to be in demand for this production.

GUY NASH NATIONAL DELEGATE

Capt. Guy Nash of this city was chosen as the National Delegate to the Boy Scout Conference held annually in New York at a meeting of the local organization held at the Elks Club Monday night. The members of the organization presented to the committee in attendance, the expense of conducting the work in this city being estimated at $2,000 annually, this including all expense. The fact that a number who have pledged amounts have not paid them upon receiving their notice that they were due was taken up and members of the commission urged to take this matter up with the members of the organization. There will be a school for Scoutmasters conducted starting next Monday at the Wood County Normal, Prof. M. H. Jackson taking charge of the theoretical side of the school while Scout Executive Knapp and Guy Nash will instruct the practical side of the matter.

K. OF C. WILL INITIATE CLASS AT MARSHFIELD

More than thirty candidates from this city will be accepted, and practically the entire Grand Rapids order will be in attendance. The examination will be held at 8 o'clock at St. Peter & Paul church in a body, after which they will leave by auto for the neighboring city. An attractive program has been arranged for the Marshfield Knights and the day expected to be an interesting one for the members.

NOT MANY APPLICANTS

F. J. Scott, Supt. of Census of the Seventh District, states that there are very few applicants coming inquiring about the position of taking census in this district, and that while there will be positions open for eight of these people, only one has applied. The positions are paying attractive wages and preference is being given to discharged soldiers who are looking for work. There will be an examination of applicants held Friday afternoon, October 31.

TIM DALY, PIONEER,
DIED ON WEDNESDAY

Tim Daly, one of the pioneer residents and early day lumberman of the central Wisconsin, passed away suddenly at the home of his son, Edward Daly, in the town of Hansen, Wednesday morning. Mr. Daly had been enjoying good health practically up to the time of his death. However, on Tuesday he complained of not feeling as well as usual, having had a slight cold. Wednesday morning he went out to the barn where he was taking care of the stock, when he dropped dead, the cause of death being heart failure. Mr. Daly was seventy-five years of age at the time of his death and was one of the well known old pioneers of this section.

When Mr. Daly was a lad of fifteen the Civil war broke out and without a minute's hesitation he volunteered, serving for nearly three years, during which time he went through the campaigns. Mr. Daly was born in McKean County, Pennsylvania, June 15, 1844 and spent his early years in the eastern state, where he gained his education and made his boyhood friends. Twenty years later, in 1864, he came west, locating in Wisconsin. Later he went to Minnesota, residing there ten years. It was there, on the twenty-second day of June, 1874, that he was united in marriage to Charlotte Elizabeth Williams, who survives him. Six children were born to this union, Edward being the only survivor. Mr. and Mrs. Daly later moved to the station on the Milwaukee road near Babcock, named Daly. In the early days there was considerable timber in that section and Mr. Daly was employed in the saw mill there and operated the boarding house. When the war was over he moved to Dancy, where he was engaged in the lumber business and conducted the boarding house.

The Wisconsin river was being run by the loggers at that time and in his positions at the mills along the river and at the boarding house Mr. Daly became widely known, establishing an acquaintance and friendship which he has retained throughout his life. Later he moved to this city, residing a short distance outside the city limits on a farm on Grand Avenue. During the past year and a half he has served as watchman at the former Reiland Packing Plant and held that position until recently. A short time ago Edward Daly, the only surviving child, returned from the west and purchased a farm in the town of Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Daly being there to live with their son. Mr. Daly has been about right along, having been in the city a few days ago, calling at the Tribune office and seeming to be enjoying his usual good health. His sudden death came as a shock to many friends in this city, and his old friends who established his acquaintance in the early days will regret hearing of his sudden demise. The funeral will be held from the Catholic Church in this city Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock, Rev. Wm. Hedding officiating.

NARROWLY ESCAPED
DROWNING ON SUNDAY

Miss Ethel Kramer, of Nekeosa, narrowly escaped drowning in the Wisconsin river near the Pavilion Sunday afternoon when she slipped from the rocks on the river bank into the deep swift water.

Miss Kramer was accompanied by Miss Mildred Nash and the Misses Elsie and Helen Linser of Nekeosa. The young ladies had walked up to the pavilion and were taking pictures along the river. The view is exceptionally pretty near the pavilion and in order to get a picture Miss Kramer ventured out to the edge of the swift water on the rocks. She slipped and fell into the water and before her companions could help her the current had carried her quite a distance from the shore into very deep water. There was no one in the vicinity that could help her as none of her companions were capable enough swimmers to venture into the deep water. Fortunately there is quite an eddy at that point where the water swirls around the rocks, thus giving her being carried to the eddy where she could be helped from the shore, Miss Kramer was unable to swim herself but managed to keep above water by struggling until she was taken into the eddy. She suffered no serious effects from her accident.

RURAL CARRIER EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the position of rural carrier at Auburn, and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in the above mentioned county. The examination will be open to citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who are not under the requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. The examination will be limited to the widows of U. S. soldiers, sailors or marines, and to the wives of U. S. soldiers, sailors or marines who are physically disqualified for examination by reason of injuries received in the line of military duty. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

Alvin Snyder, who has been working at the Alexander Apianes, near Albany, New York, returned home last week. Alvin expects to spend some time here with his parents. He served in the merchant marine during the war but was discharged last spring, working thru the south in different apianes and later locating in New York.

PORT EDWARDS PIONEER
PASSED AWAY ON SUNDAY

Joseph Barger, one of the pioneer residents of Port Edwards and of the central part of the state, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Julia VerBunker, at Port Edwards, Sunday morning. Death came after a short illness due to a general breakdown in old age, Mr. Barger being eighty-seven years of age at the time of his death. Born in Canada in 1832, Mr. Barger spent his early life and gained the early years of his education in the English province. In 1855, when he was still a young man, he came to this section of the state, entering into the logging and other pioneer activities of the early days. Later he carried the mail in Port Edwards, and held that position continuously for nineteen years, until he was taken sick about two weeks before his death. Mr. Barger had a wide acquaintance and was known as a man of honesty and integrity, and will be greatly missed by many friends in this city as well as in Port Edwards.

The funeral services were held on Wednesday morning at 8:30 from the house in Port Edwards and at 9:15 from St. Peter & Paul church in this city. Rev. Feldman of Nekeosa officiated.

Mr. Barger is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Julia VerBunker, of Port Edwards and by nine grand children.

BANK DIRECTORS VOTE TO MERGE; WITTER PRESIDENT

At meetings held by the directors of the First National and the Bank of Grand Rapids the plan of consolidating the two banks has been practically settled, the First National directors voting to take over the Bank of Grand Rapids and the west side bank directors acting favorably on the matter. The First National bank will increase their capital stock $100,000, in order to complete the deal. I. P. Witter, president of the Bank of Grand Rapids, will in all probability head the new institution. There are several plans under consideration for the plans under consideration with Sen. I. P. Witter. In conversation with Sen. I. P. Witter, that gentleman stated that nothing definite had been done. He said that the present First National bank building might be re-modeled, taking the upstairs and making it into a messanine floor, where some of the clerical departments and directors rooms might be conducted. The cost of doing this in comparison with the cost of a new building may have a material effect on the decision. Mr. Witter stated that several had suggested that the bank erect a new building and establish a doctors clinic in the present building. Others have suggested making it into the Public Library.

The Bank of Grand Rapids owns two corner locations in the west side, one next to their present building and one opposite the Johnson & Hill store. These are a lot of vacant space, a frame building standing on the first named location, which will probably be razed within the next six or eight months. The actual consolidation may not be effected for a year, depending on whether the present building is remodeled or a new building is erected.

CRANBERRY CROP IS LARGER THAN USUAL

Practically all the cranberry growers in this vicinity have completed the harvest of their berries, the crop being the largest that has been gotten in this section. The work last week. The crop this year exceeds anything known in the past as to quantity and the quality as well, is unusually high. Going thru the entire season without a frost central Wisconsin cranberry growers enjoyed one of the most favorable years for the crop that has been recorded since the berries west and east of this city.

"The crop in the state will probably run about 40,000 barrels," E. P. Arpin, president of the Wisconsin Cranberry Sales Co., stated on Wednesday, "this being an increase of about 10,000 barrels over the 1918 crop. The berries are firm and of good quality."

Mr. Arpin stated that earlier in the year there had been some question as to the market, the threatened shortage of sugar making the outlook a little questionable. However, on Wednesday he received word stating that 3,000,000 pounds of sugar that has been held by the naval department will be released, which indicates that there will be plenty of sugar. The fact that the government has set the price of sugar at ten cents a pound means that the prices will not advance to the figures that were contemplated earlier in the season, and that many who have been holding sugar for speculation may be glad to put their product on the market.

The use of syrup as a substitute for sugar in sweetening the berries has been suggested by the Sales Company, who are distributing receipts, telling how to handle them in that way. One of the advantages of the past season has been the fact that there are practically no water soaked berries, and thru this fact they will keep better than they have at times in the past. Years when frosts are frequent and it is necessary to flood regularly the berries often become water soaked and their keeping qualities are injured.

The Arpin Cranberry Company has the largest output of any of the growers in this vicinity this year, heading the list with 4,000 barrels. The approximate outputs of the other growers are in barrels as follows: Bissig Bros. 600. Garyn 2500. Potter & Son 2500. Lloyd Rezin 1500. Bennett & Son 2500. Todd Rezin 1500. R. Rezin 1500. S. N. Whitteley 300. Harry Whitteley 300. Ed. Kruger 500. Frank Patterson 60. J. Emmerick-Cran. Co. 900. Elm Lake Cran. Co. 800. Tim Foley 70. Lester Cran. Co. 800. Mrs. Pauline Smith 400. A. Searls & Son 1800. Jacob Searls 300. Robt. Skeel 300.

At the present time standards are bringing about $8.50 on the market while the fancy grades are bringing over $1.50 to $2 more a barrel. While the market has not been brisk up to the present time the season is just opening and with the prospect of more sugar it is expected that there will be no trouble to dispose of the crop on hand.

They are making their home at Chicago where they go with the best wishes of the Tribune and a host of other friends.

Game Warden Will Cole was in the city Wednesday and while speaking of some of the new laws which have gone into effect the past season he spoke to several of the local sportsmen regarding the matter of signing their name to their licenses, there being a blank line left there for that purpose. This must be done to comply with the law Mr. Cole stated, and failure to do it might cause trouble for the Wisconsin hunters.

PORT EDWARDS MEN HURT
IN EARLY MORNING CRASH

Edw. P. Gleason, engineer for the Nekeosa-Edwards Company, Otto Walley, an employee, and Will Irwin, a guard, suffered injuries early Sunday morning when automobiles driven by Mr. Gleason and Mr. Irwin collided near the Pavilion. The accident occurred about seven o'clock, Gleason driving toward Port Edwards and Irwin coming from that place.

According to Mr. Irwin's story he came down the concrete road at a fairly good rate of speed, and saw Gleason approaching. At a point a few feet distant from the Gleason machine his steering gear failed to work, and the car headed across the road toward the Gleason car. Seeing that there was danger of a collision Gleason turned sharply off to the right into the sand, the Irwin car striking Gleason's roadster squarely in the center. Otto Walley, who was riding with Gleason, was thrown thru the top and received a broken rib. Gleason had a ruler in his back pocket, which gouged into his hip, and inflicting quite painful injuries. There were six passengers in the Irwin car, all receiving a severe shaking up but none serious injuries. Both cars were wrecked practically beyond repair.

On Friday night two cars crashed in the wood between Port Edwards and Nekeosa, both being smashed up to some extent but none of the occupants hurt. Both cars were owned in Nekeosa.

Mr. Lense had been farming for a number of years at Baldwin, Wis., but had recently sold his interests there due to failing health he had been unable to continue his farming operations.

IMPROVES FLOWING OUTFIT

He was well known by the older residents of Sigel and also had many friends in this city. The funeral services were held in Sigel Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 from the house and 2:00 from the Lutheran church in Sigel. Burial was made in the Lutheran cemetery in Sigel.

The deal was made by Louis Gross.

PORT EDWARDS MILL
PRODUCING CAPACITY

A visit to the Port Edwards mill Monday afternoon saw that institution running at capacity, practically all the departments of the mill running and conditions about back to normal after four months of strike during which time they operated at a percentage of their capacity. The wood room going one hundred percent, the bark, digester, grinders, beaters and paper machines running at their full capacity, things assumed an air of peace and production that has not been evident since the trouble began. Cars being loaded on the tracks, four of them that day, showed beyond a doubt that the company is not only making paper but are shipping it to their customers. Both sheets and rolls were being made and loaded into the cars, and the paper machines were being run up to their full speed. Every boiler in the boiler room was fired up and the gages registered a good head of steam.

A visit was first made to the new barracks which have recently been erected near the hotel building. The first new floor of the building is taken up with wash rooms and showers, and a large dining room and kitchen. This part of the establishment resembles an army kitchen to a great extent, places being given to a great number of men. Two colored waiters who have been serving on the pullman cars are in charge of the waiting in the dining room, and according to reports that come from there they are remarkably capable. The Tribune representative asked one of the colored men how they were feeding, and he stated that he had a good menu, feed as good as any of the men being fed. Things were extremely clean and neat.

The second floor of the building has been partitioned off into small rooms for sleeping quarters, steam heat being installed in each room, the men sleeping on double deck bunks constructed of steel.

In the mill things were found to be running in their customary order. Mr. Hugh Holes, who has charge of one of the departments there, stated that his crew was able to supply the digesters with enough chips to keep them running and to fill the large storage bin by working half the day, while, previous to this the crew had required a full day to do the work. The sulphate mill was operating at capacity, evidently, all the pulp machines going and the men taking sulphite pulp off the rolls. The beaters were all going, with the exception of one, which it was explained is used in making wrapping paper, the mill turning out print paper on Monday. In the machine room a piece of paper was torn off and inspected, it being a thirty-two pound sheet in weight. The print was a good blue-white color, tearing it showed that it contained a good percentage of sulphite, the men containing twenty per cent sulphite, and was just as clear as any print paper made by the mills of this locality. Print paper always contains small specks here and there, the product at Port Edwards being no exception to this rule.

On the track stood four cars, one just having been sealed, one filled with sheet paper bundles while the writer was there, and the other two in the process of being loaded with rolls. The writer asked one of the men leading how many cars they generally loaded a day. His answer was, "Oh, two—sometimes three." He was not aware of who the inquirer was or what the motive of his question had been, and undoubtedly gave an honest answer. The biggest question that has been raised in regard to the Port Edwards mill has been in regard to whether or not they have actually been making paper and shipping it, and a visit to the mill will convince beyond a particle of doubt that they are.

As an example of what the consumers of the paper think of it the writer was shown a letter from a western newspaper, which had come back to a jobber handling the Nekeosa-Edwards paper. The letter was entirely unsolicited but came from the jobber saying that he was glad to show that his paper was as good as any kick at times. It was stated that the newspaper publishers were more than satisfied with the way the last car of print paper they had received from the Nekeosa-Edwards plant had run thru their presses, which indicates that the sheet was of good quality. A poor quality sheet will break on a rotary or duplex press and cause considerable trouble.

At the present time the men are working on day shifts, thus getting in about eight hours a day overtime and drawing pretty attractive wages. They have enough men there to start three shifts anytime, but the men prefer the present system as it nets them much higher wages.

According to one of the waiters in the barracks they have fed as high as one hundred and fifty-nine men at a meal. The plant has been enough so that the Nekeosa mill to work, and the Nekeosa mill to work.

An inspection of the Port Edwards mill is convincing that they are running and producing. The Nekeosa mill was not visited, however, it is stated by company officials that two machines were running there Monday and that a third had been wiped up, ready to be put into action, and that it probably would be started Wednesday. There were two hundred and twenty men at the Nekeosa mill Monday and the number being increased daily, the fact that the barracks were not completed and it was impossible to take care of them being the reason they were held up.

The John Embolt, farm of 160 acres in the town of Rudolph was sold to Walter Block of Milwaukee the past week, the deal being made thru Louis Gross.

TOM BRAHANY QUILTS POST
WITH WILSON AT CAPITOL

Thomas W. Brahany, brother of Mrs. Henry Dumitz, of this city, who for a number of years past has been an executive clerk of President Wilson at Washington, has resigned his position to accept a position with a private corporation. Mr. Brahany's new position will be secretary and assistant treasurer of the American Republics Corporation, an oil holding company capitalized at $10,000,000. Their main offices are in New York City.

"Tom" Brahany has been a prominent figure in political and social circles ever since he took up his important duties at the national capital. He was educated in the University of Wisconsin and later studied law at Georgetown, where he went to Washington as secretary to Senator J. V. Quarles of Wisconsin. Subsequently he was associated with Senator John C. Spooner of Wisconsin and was engaged in newspaper work in Washington. Soon after the organization of the federal tariff board during the Taft administration he became executive secretary of the board and soon afterwards was appointed executive clerk at the White House. He has acted in that capacity for President Wilson ever since the latter became president. Mr. Brahany accompanied the president on his recent speaking tour in the interests of the peace treaty and League of Nations covenant.

RED CROSS TO RAISE
$3,000 NEXT MONTH

Conducting their annual drive for membership and for funds for their support, the Grand Rapids Chapter, American Red Cross will raise $3,000 in this city and the southern half of Wood County the first week in November, the dates being set for Nov. 3 to 11th. The work will be conducted largely on the plan of renewing memberships to the organization, which enrolls about 2,500 people of this section. This can be increased, it is expected, as many who might have been a little bit skeptical about what results the Red Cross might accomplish, have seen the remarkable amount of work the people of Grand Rapids and this vicinity alone contributed.

The fact that from Grand Rapids and the branch chapters of the Red Cross which have shipped their articles thru this chapter have shipped folded surgical garments and 161,165 hospital garments and 1,811,165 clothing totaling 10,181, and knitted articles totaling 3,442, indicates the results that have been obtained here. The total number shipped by the American Red Cross amounted to 317,500,000 articles, which is quite a number, however, the local organization was one of the best in the state. They were not only complimented on the amount of materials they shipped but also on the quality of their workmanship. One or two local representatives will attend a conference at the Pilsner Hotel in Milwaukee this week where the plan of conducting the Red Cross in this country and abroad will assist in planning the program.

One of the points that the Grand Rapids officials are trying to thoroughly impress on local members is the fact that the Red Cross is not a war time organization, but their work will extend through the war and during peace time. In many organizations, the money which is raised is not eaten up by overhead expense of conducting the enterprise. The volunteer work of the members during the war made it possible to conduct the Red Cross on 1.8 percent of their income, the balance being spent directly on the projects they had outlined.

The drive is to be carried to every person in this southern section of the county and a membership of only three thousand persons is the mark which the local organization will work for.

TWELVE ROAD AND BRIDGE
CREWS WORKING HIGHWAYS

Highway Commissioner Amundson reports that the other now twelve road and bridge crews working on the county highways. Several new culverts have been put in the town of Sherry and a crew are working in the town of Hansen on culverts at the present time. The favorable weather permitted the work to be carried on rather late this season, and it is expected that the crews will be able to work at least until the latter part of the present month, and later if the weather is favorable. Much of the work that would have been accomplished this year has been held up thru the fact that it is impossible to get men to work on the roads.

ROOD DREDGING CO.
TAKES BERLIN JOB

The Rood Dredging Company of this city have closed a contract with large land owners at Berlin for one of the largest dredging contracts that has been let in the state this season, which includes the construction of a ditch twelve miles long, and two smaller ditches. The contract will require the work of two machines the greater part of next season and amounts to about $50,000.

The ditches, the construction of which was started last week by the local company, will drain marsh land between Berlin and Red Granite. The big ditch will start at a point about four miles out of Berlin and runs almost to Red Granite. One machine has been put on the job this fall and will take care of this season's work, however, next season the company will put on another machine to take care of the smaller work.

Work of cleaning out the ditches on the east marsh in the Reuna Vista district was started this week, and will be completed during the fall and next summer until completed. The drainage district own their own dredge there, and are doing the work. State Conservation Commissioner Nevins has looked over the proposition, and granted permission to carry on the work in the ditches, which would endanger the lives of the trout. However, there will be about two feet taken out of the bottom of each ditch, giving the trout a chance to protect themselves by getting under the banks. No. Four ditch, which is one of the popular trout ditches, will be deepened in order to take care of the large volume of water which flows in it.

George Hill, Jr., of this city, who has been interested in a dredge at Trivola, Minn., with C. C. Knutson, has sold his interests there to Mr. Knutson, who will operate the dredge in the future. The Knutson-Hill dredge burned about two weeks ago, however, Mr. Knutson is rebuilding and will be ready

CABINET TO RUN THE GOVERNMENT

President Wilson's Aids Take Over His Executive Duties.

WILL ACT TILL HE RECOVERS

Action Recalls the Procedure Adopted When President Garfield Was Shot Down by a Assassin—Little Change in Condition.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The cabinet met and prepared to assume as many as possible of the activities of President Wilson for the remainder of the period of his illness. This means, in short, cabinet operation of the executive branches of the government until the president is well enough to resume his duties or at least sufficiently recovered to guide the cabinet.

Meanwhile, there was no pronounced change in the president's condition save that he passed a restless night because of a swelling of the prostate gland.

Action of the cabinet in proceeding to take over some of the functions of the executive was deemed an indication that the president would be sick for a long time.

With Secretary of State Lansing in the chair the cabinet began an allotment of duties—such as the president would do to its individual members.

Secretary Lansing, of course, will continue in charge of all foreign matters, and, incidentally, subjects now handled by the state department.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston was assigned the sugar shortage and is expected to issue a statement on it within a few days. Houston was given this task because of the information on the subject in possession of his department.

Secretary of Labor Wilson will attempt to avert the threatened strike of coal miners slated for November 1. It is a question of paramount importance to the administration.

Attorney General Palmer will continue, as heretofore, in charge of the fight against the high cost of living. He already has planned for the cooperation of all agencies, as was shown by his conference with Secretary of the Treasury Glass, Secretary of Labor Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture Houston and other federal officials.

Despite the widely divergent matters that were placed in the hands of individual cabinet members that body, in the last analysis, it was reported, will function as a unit.

It will meet each Tuesday and if necessary warrants it will revert to the old system of meeting twice weekly—on Tuesdays and Fridays.

The action of the cabinet recalled the procedure adopted when President Garfield, struck down by an assassin, was incapacitated for duty several months before his death.

At that time there was "cabinet government" during the period of Mr. Garfield's illness. Wayne MacVeagh, the attorney general, was known as the "strong man" of the cabinet and wielded the powers and authority of the executive to such an extent that he was often referred to as the "acting president."

FLYING PARSON WINS AIR RACE

Lieut. Maynard Flies From New York to San Francisco in 25 Hours.

SPATZ AND KIEL IN NEW YORK

"Sky Pilot" Says He Attributes His Success to the Liberty Motor—Didn't Change Spark Plug After Leaving Chicago.

San Francisco, Oct. 14.—First Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard, pilot of a De Havilland 4 airplane, leader of the west-bound flyers in the transcontinental air derby, flew into the Hall of Fame when he sped across San Francisco bay and alighted at the Presidio at 1:23:07 from Mineola, N. Y.

It was unofficially estimated that Maynard's average flying time for the 2,701 miles was 24 hours 58 minutes 55 1/2 seconds.

Lieutenant Maynard, his observer, Master Signal Electrician W. E. Klein, and Trickle, the German police dog who accompanied them, were all considerably weatherbeaten and glad to get down to earth again, but in the best of spirits.

Describing his remarkable race, Maynard said:

"I attribute the success of our flight to the Liberty motor. It certainly has proved itself. We were not forced to change any spark plugs after we left Chicago. We ran almost wide open most of the way.

"Although we had plenty of time at night for sleep, Kiel and I didn't sleep much, owing to the roar of the motor all day. We are still unable to hear well.

"We reached 13,000 feet crossing Lake Tahoe, which was the highest altitude we made. It was intensely cold. Most of the time we flew at 1,500 feet, where we averaged almost 120 m.p.h. The only piece of bad luck we had on the trip was breaking the radiator at Cheyenne, which delayed us for half a day.

"Crossing the Sierras was not so bad, although I had visions of being stranded when we ran into the low, smoky fog covering the San Francisco district."

Mineola, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Darting down in a thrilling finish out of a sky that by minutes was changing from gray to black, Major Carl Spatz and Lieut. Emil C. Kiel, cross continental flyers from San Francisco, came to rest on Mitchell field with only seconds separating their arrival.

It was 6:35:10 o'clock when Lieutenant Kiel touched earth, and 6:35:30 when the De Havilland 4, driven by the major, rested scarcely 100 feet away.

NEWS OF THE BADGER STATE

Madison.—Returned soldiers, marines, nurses and sailors who take the winter dairy course at the College of Agriculture will be granted the educational bonus of $30 for each month of attendance, according to a statement made by E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state educational board. The late enactment of the educational bill kept many young men who were already engaged in work from enrolling college at the beginning of the year, and it is expected that the decision of the board will be of special advantage to them. The course, which has been given each winter since 1890, will begin on Nov. 4 and close on Jan. 23.

Onalaska.—The sheep men of La Crosse county have called a meeting for the purpose of forming an organization to protect their flocks from wolves. STEVENS POINT—THE POTATO BUSINESS

In central Wisconsin has been given another boost. With the early predictions quoting a record price for No. 1 grade potatoes for the farmers of Portage county, the market has been opened for the potato business by the establishment of a new potato flour company at Grand Rapids, the first concern of its kind in Wisconsin. The company will buy 700 carloads of No. 2 potatoes this year, which it will use in the manufacture of a potato flour. The establishment of a potato flour company at Grand Rapids is a market for No. 2 potatoes, which has been a raising considerably more attractive, as this grade has previously been practically a drug on the market and a direct loss to growers.

SOLDIERS CONTINUE RAIDS ON THE REDS

General Wood Declares Gary Is Hotbed of Anarchy.

WORKERS DUPED IN STRIKE

Says Terrorist Element Seized Upon the Situation as a Good Place for the Opening Wedge for Their Propaganda.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commanding the central department of the United States army, went to Gary and took personal charge of the rounding up of reds who are running away with the steel strike.

"I endorse all Colonel Mapes has told you," he said to the newspaper correspondents. "This place is a hotbed of anarchy. I believe that the workingman is loyal, but the red element has seized upon this strike situation as a good place for the opening wedge for their propaganda of violence and destruction."

Protect Workers' Houses. One of the chief tasks of the military in Gary is the protection of the homes of workers and of the men on their way to and from the steel mills.

There have been many threats that the wives and children of workers will be made to suffer if the men do not join the strikers. Also, complaints were made to the police that men wearing masks and long robes have stopped them in the streets at night and threatened dire things if they did not strike at once.

The reply of Colonel Mapes

IN MEMORY OF DOUGHBOYS

Memorial Centers for Social Activities Are Preferred to Monuments.

Statistics just made public by the Bureau of Memorial Buildings of War Camp Community Services show the 254 communities in the United States have decided to erect buildings in memory of the men who served in the war. Of the memorial buildings to be raised, 132 will take the form of community houses, each to function as a free recreation and social center. Six of the structures will be municipal office buildings.

More than 700 American communities now are considering the building of memorial buildings instead of statues or monuments. The Bureau of Memorial Buildings also announces it is sponsoring throughout the United States for the community building type of memorial. Such an institution, the Bureau heads maintain, is a living influence in every community, and serves constantly as a reminder of the men the community gave to the national fighting forces.

Additional figures concerning the 254 memorial buildings already decided upon show that fourteen of them will serve as state memorials and that forty-four of them will be of the auditorium type. These will have social and recreational facilities in addition to large meeting halls, and for the most part will be in larger cities. Other memorials will take the form of hospitals, libraries, school buildings and church work centers.

Chumney M. Dewey is a great admirer of Ring Lardner and delights to relate an anecdote concerning the well-known sport writer and humorist. It was at a club in Philadelphia and a certain gentleman whom the crowd were trying to entice into spending the evening there declared he could not remain because he had promised his wife he would come home.

"Till he fix it for you," said Lardner, and darted into the phone booth. Presently he emerged shouting:

"It's all right, old chap, your wife says you can stay!"

"How in the world did you manage to bring her around?" asked the amazed man.

"Easy," replied Lardner. "I told her you were coming home and should I bring you home or keep you here, and she said:

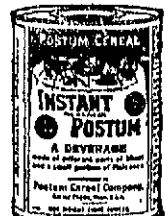

"You can have him, Mr. Lardner!"

"Flu" Is Coming Back This Year, Warning of Surgeon General

"Will the 'flu' come back this year?"

This question, being asked by thousands of scientists and millions of laymen, is discussed by Surgeon General Blue of the public health service in an official bulletin, in which it is said that the plague probably will reappear but not be as severe as last winter.

"Probably, but by no means certainly, there will be a recurrence of the influenza epidemic this year," says General Blue.

"Indications are that, should it occur, it will not be as severe as the pandemic of the previous winter. City officials, state and city boards of health should be prepared for a recurrence. The fact that a previous attack brings immunity in a certain percentage of cases should allay fear on the part of those afflicted in last year's epidemic.

"Influenza is spread by direct and indirect contact. It is not yet certain that the germ has been isolated or discovered, and there is yet no positive preventive, except the enforcement of rigid rules of sanitation and the avoidance of personal contact.

"We may expect at least local recurrences in the near future, with an increase over the normal mortality from pneumonia for perhaps several years, and certainly we should be, as far as possible, prepared to meet them by previous organization of forces and measures for attempted prevention, treatment and scientific investigation.

"There should be no repetition of the extensive suffering and distress which accompanied last year's pandemic. The most promising way is 'preparedness.' And now is the time to prepare.

"No mention has been made of a cure. So far as the most careful scientific investigations have been able to determine, none has been discovered, and suggested remedies which gave most encouragement are even now in their experimental stage.

"Evidence collected during last winter's pandemic points strongly to infected eating and drinking utensils, especially in places where food and drink are sold to the public, as being one of the modes of transmission of this disease."

SHANTUNG

Has 30,000,000 People; Size of Small State

If you wish to realize the blessings of your native land, where there is plenty of room and plenty to eat, go and look at the province of Shantung, writes Niksch.

Shantung has thirty million people, but it is no bigger than the state of Illinois. Not a scrap of anything is wasted in Shantung. The Chinese girls there wear the discarded gowns of their brothers into the hair parts that American girls wear when they go mourning. The silk worn, which probably yields more wealth in proportion to what he eats than any other creature, is the most important domestic asset.

The great majority of the thirty million Chinese in Shantung just barely exist.

To add to the misery of this human mass, the ruthless Yunnan river splits the province of Shantung with a yellow flood, which once a year sweeps over its banks and kills and destroys. It is held back by dikes that tower above the houses of the poor, keeping them always in the shadow of death.

As everywhere else in the civilized world, an aristocracy, both oriental and European, sits on the shoulders of this impoverished yellow mass. Being 'fun' the chief part, is a sort of Chinese Atlantic City full of splendid hotels and homes, rich and beautiful.

Spider Is Credited With Being Original Inventor of Familiar Diving Bell

It is said that the diving bell was invented by the spider; at least, that it was used by that insect long before hydraulic engineers made one for the same purpose.

The diving bell is a cup-shaped body, with an open end that is let into the water. The air is caught in the bell and keeps the water from rising beyond a certain level at any specified depth, permitting anyone inside to breathe.

The improvement of the diving bell known as the calisson is a huge pipe which has compartments, into which air is pumped from above. The spider's bell is filled more in this manner than in any other.

The spider's abdomen is so made that a bubble of air can be caught underneath it and carried into its structure. In this little water house the spider spends the water and rears its young. The house also acts as a lair from which the spider, known as the nauid, can jump on unsuspecting prey.

Another peculiar thing about the nauid is that they never get wet. They have thousands of small hairs on their bodies which prevent the air from being washed off and which protect them.

Average Life of a Tank in Battle Was 47 Days, According to Figures

The average life of a tank in battle was forty-seven days, and nearly one-half of the American fleet of seventy-eight were put out of action the first day of the Argentine battle, Dr. Gen. Samuel D. Harkness, tank corps commander, has disclosed these figures to the senate military committee in urging continued development of tanks, pointing out that damage to the tanks and casualties among the crews were light.

In August, 1917, he said, the United States had no tanks, but obtained 100 from the French in September. In the St. Mihiel fighting 417 French, British and American tanks took part. In the Argonne, while the American fleet of seventy-eight tanks was reduced to forty-eight the second day and to twenty-four ultimately, only six were hit by shells.

At one time plans were considered for equipping tankettes with "tin covers," leading tanks, General Harkness said, as it was known that the enemy would surrender when the fighting machines were in sight, so great was the fear of tanks.

Wild Duck with Turnips.

Cut up the bird in neat pieces for serving. Slice one large onion and one carrot; melt four tablespoons of butter in a saucepan; add the vegetables; cook until nicely browned. Steam off the fat, add a cupful of stock and one bay leaf, place in the oven and cook for one hour. Peel eight turnips, cut four of them into quarters and fry in hot butter until brown; put them with the duck to finish cooking. Boil the other turnips until tender in salted water; mash and rub through a sieve; put them in a saucepan with one tablespoonful of butter to season and salt and pepper to taste; add a quarter of a cup of cream and heat again. Take up the duck, dish it on the hot mashed turnips and arrange the fried quarters around it. Strain the sauce from the duck, thicken with flour, season and serve in a sauceboat.

Estimate Shows 8,000,000 Women and Girls Did Red Cross Work During War

The war achievement of the American women who are now being mobilized for the Third Red Cross roll call, November 2 to 11, is revealed in the announcement by Atlantic division headquarters that in two years they produced nearly $100,000,000 worth of surgical articles and garments. During the 24 months ending April 30 last the figures show Red Cross chapter workers turned out 375,172 surgical dressings, hospital garments, red cross garments and knitted comforts for the soldiers and sailors, the estimated value of which was $98,184,350.

In number of articles produced, the Atlantic division ranks first among the 13 divisions of the national organization. The women of the three states—New York, New Jersey and Connecticut—produced 77,868,904 articles with a valuation of $15,597,428. It is estimated that 8,000,000 women and girls participated in this tremendous work throughout the country, and it is among them largely that the Red Cross is now recruiting the 1,000,000 workers who will assist in the enrollment of members for 1920 during the ten days ending Armistice day, when a really universal membership will be sought to maintain the effectiveness of the organization built up in the war for the big peace program of the Red Cross.

THE OPEN WINDOW

My tower was grimly builded,
With many a bolt and bar,
And I thought, "I will keep my life
From the bitter world afar."

Dark and chill was the stony floor,
Where never a sunbeam lay,
And the mold crept up on the dreary wall,
With its ghost touch, day by day.

One morn, in my sullen musings,
A jester and a cry I heard,
And close at the rusty casement
There clung a frightened bird.

Then back I flung the shutter
That was never before undone,
And I kept till its wings were teared
The little weary one.

But in through the open window,
Which I had forgot to close,
There had burst a gust of sunshine
And a summer scent of rose.

For all the while I had burrowed
There in my dingy tower,
Lest the bird had sung and the leaves had
Laid the bird to sunny hour.

And such balm and warmth and beauty
Came drifting in since then,
That the window still stands open
And shall never be shut again.

Only a little over 1,000 head were known to be in existence when the protective movement started. Records show more than 600 calves born in 1917.

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for infants and children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

KILLING THE GOOSE

Killing the goose that lays the golden egg, is what might be termed the action of the New York typesetters when they recently walked out because the publishers of that city would not accede to their demands for higher wages.

They imagined that they were going to put the periodicals on the strike, so to speak, and that they would be glad to come to their terms, but it begins to look very much as if there had been a slip in affairs somewhere, as several of the periodicals have resorted to the plan of typesetting their pages and making photographic reproductions and running their magazines from these plates, thus doing away entirely with the setting of type.

Other magazines located in New York are discussing the possibility of moving to some smaller city with their publications, thus getting away from the disadvantage of being located in a city where wages are the highest in the country.

The people in general are getting tired of this strike business, and where propositions become too severe they are going to do something radical, even to the invention of a new process to do away with the strike entirely. Necessity is the mother of invention, and in this case it was a real necessity.

WHY MATERIAL CAME SLOWLY

According to Engineer Thompson, the reason the city did not receive crushed stone faster during the past summer was because the contractors of concrete in this locality made it a point to see the handlers of crushed stone and by misrepresentation, and otherwise, induced them not to ship crushed stone to the city, supplying the contractors instead. They were able to do this because they had been customers for crushed stone for a number of years past, and the companies were naturally desirous of supplying their regular customers rather than a new customer who might be in the market for only a year. Mr. Thompson says that the contractors are peeved because they did not get the job, and then when he gets them with the work it will show them up, the cost at which the city will do the work being much less than any of the bids received. If this is true it certainly ought to give the contractors quite a stand in with the people of this city and vicinity, but of course they would not do anything like this. Mr. Thompson is in favor of the city buying a stone crusher and crushing its own stone, as there is plenty of granite in this vicinity that would make just as good paving material as that we are buying and shipping in for long distances, and we could figure on what we were going to do during a season and have enough stock ahead so that the work would not be delayed like it has during the past summer.

WE SAY, GIVE 'EM BACK

The president proposes, and wisely, that the railroads be returned to their rightful owners. There is one proposition on which we agree with the president, even though there may be points on which we differ. The government has had a pretty good tryout with the railroads and the matter has not worked out just as well as might be expected by some of the advocates of government ownership. There was a class of people who imagined that several things would happen just as soon as the government got hold of the railroads, one of them being that the prices of transportation would be very materially lowered, so that the poor man could travel just as well as the rich man. Instead of the prices being lowered, they have been raised, both for passengers and freight, to such an extent that even a rich man can hardly afford to travel.

Then they expected that everything would move like clockwork, and that things would be handled in a more expeditious manner than ever before under private ownership, but instead of this, things have been moving slower and slower, until they almost, but not quite, equal some of the government-owned railroads in the old country.

The men in charge of the railroads have issued several books on the subject of government ownership of railroads, showing the increased service they have given the people in the face of increased expenses, and how the public has been served in a much better manner than never before, none of which the public believes a word of. The business men of the country are decidedly tired of this government ownership proposition, and the sooner they are returned to their rightful owners the better.

SOME PROFITS AN ILLUSION

A great many men who have rushed into certain business enterprises during the last two years have been disagreeably awakened to the fact that the apparent profits of the business are a veritable mirage. A great many failed to take into consideration the enormous income and excess profit taxes imposed by the war where the percentage of earnings on the investment was large. Sometimes these taxes were as high as three-fourths of the entire profits. A large number of these forgoing concerns, some of which have been in business for years, declared large dividends and paid the same to their stockholders, then suddenly discovered that the government was demanding a large portion of the earnings in the form of taxes on income, on excess profits, and they would have to go out and either borrow the money or ask for a voluntary repayment from the stockholders. Therefore, when a large number in street corner gossip and elsewhere state that there is so much margin above the raw material and the labor cost, it is a good two to one bet that they fail to take in anywhere near a proper overhead expense charge and are certain to leave out almost entirely the fact that the government is reaching after and is getting a large portion of the apparent profits. If you don't believe it, just talk it over confidentially with any business man that you are acquainted with who is in any large business where there is an apparently good profit in the business. We are not saying that business generally is not profitable, because it is, but we are saying a great many business men have been rudely surprised by the fact that Uncle Sam is taking such a substantial portion of what he thought would go to private pockets in the way of profits. These facts simply show that before arriving at any judgment concerning business conditions, labor, etc., the whole matter has to be studied carefully. The information has got to be put on the table, that a reasonable and fair adjustment may be made. Action on haphazard guess work is almost certain to fail. Careful conscientious investigation and a desire to do the right thing for all concerned seldom creates turmoil but usually gets to the right result and keeps the wheels of business in motion, labor properly paid and every reasonable person reasonably satisfied.

"ASK AND YE SHALL RECEIVE"

These are great times for asking for what you want, and getting it. The Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Wisconsin Colleges, Y. M. C. A., and a dozen and one other societies that a few years ago used to beg for what they wanted in a halting manner, now decide on the amount of money that will be necessary to run them comfortably for six months or a year; and then they launch a "drive" for the purpose of obtaining the money. There is nothing to it. Each man is catalogued and told how much he is to give, and that is all there is to it. All the ordinary dub has to do is to shell out the amount and the man with the sack will do the rest. It is a fine system for the man that needs the money, but it would seem that there was going to come a time when the fellow who is doing the giving is going to kick over, the traces and spoil the snap.

FISHWAYS FOR THE DAMS

One would think that the paper mill men who are conducting operations along the Wisconsin River, and who operate their mills by water power, would see to it that fish ways are established in their dams, so that the fish from down river could get into their ponds and thus keep up the supply. We do not mean that they should do it because the law requires it. Observing the law is only a small part of the matter. It is because the fishing would be improved thereby and the men who work in the mills would derive a great deal of pleasure and benefit from the outdoor exercise they would get in catching or trying to catch the fish.

The mill owners all over the country are building community houses and club houses, places where the men can congregate and spend a part of their leisure time, and according to their tell the money is well spent. They sort of take the place of the saloons where the men formerly congregated and got their skin full of booze which befuddled their brains and made them susceptible to accidents and the wives of agitators, broke down their health and impoverished their families. Why, a man with three or four shots in the arm has been known to have sand enough to walk right up to the boss and tell him just what he thought of him, a thing that he would never have risked when perfectly sober, and they did other things equally risky and indecent when carrying more of a deckload than they could comfortably get away with.

We believe in building club houses also, and giving the men a place where they can play dominoes with one another and engage in other harmless pastimes of that sort when the weather is bad and it is unpleasant to be out in the open, but the average man who works indoors all day would much rather get out onto the water and catch a few fish than to sit in the house and play sevenup with his neighbor. His nature craves for some outdoor pastime such as hunting or fishing, and many a man who might in time become decidedly discontented with his lot would be entirely satisfied with his location could he know that after his day's work was done it would be possible for him to get out into the open and commune with nature to the extent of catching enough fish for a meal. It would not only be easier to get good men, but it would be easier to hold them after they were secured if there were some natural advantages of that sort.

For this reason we claim that it is not on account of the law altogether that the mill men should put fishways in their dams. They could prove what good fellows they are and be looking out for their own interests at the same time, and this latter proposition surely ought to appeal to them with considerable strength. The cost would be so small that this part of it would not amount to anything. In fact a few hundreds of dollars would do the trick nicely, and in the course of a year they would get the money back many times over by the increased efficiency and the contentment of the men. Why not try it out, just for a joke on the public, if nothing else?

METRIC SYSTEM OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

The World Trade Club has taken the task upon itself to try to change the system of weights and measures in this country from the present cumbersome plan of pints and quarts, ounces and pounds, and inches and feet, to the metric system of meters, liters and grams, and have it figured in tens and hundreds instead of the present plan.

Any youngster that manages to wiggle his way through school at some time learns the metric system and is able to rattle off the different tables that he is compelled to learn with great ease and rapidly. In fact, there was nothing much to learn, and it could all be done in a few minutes, and as they never had any further use for the system it is safe to say that a majority of the kids forget the whole business about as quick as it took them to learn it. The chances are that it was so simple that they never thought it was worth remembering, and as a matter of fact, in view of the conditions and circumstances, it was not worth putting much time in on.

However, the metric system has a whole lot of advantages that may not be recognized at a glance, especially by those who have never had the matter called to their mind. For instance: At the present time we have three systems of weights in common use, apothecary, apothecary and troy. A man buying chemicals of any kind in quantities buys them by apothecary weight of 437 1/2 grains to the ounce, and when he comes to mix the chemicals his formulas call for apothecary ounces of 480 grains. Of course there is nothing particularly startling about this, but it is rather a queer condition of affairs, and certainly not the plan one would adopt unless he were a man who delighted in having things as complicated as possible. This is only one of the many instances where our present system is complicated and obscure. There are many more that might be enumerated without any difficulty.

Residents of the United States think that the English system of pence, shillings and pounds is quite a joke and that it would only be tolerated by a nation that is several hundred years behind the times and too stubborn and stiff-necked to adopt a good thing when they see it, but we do not realize, while making fun of them, that our system of weights and measures is just as obscure and cumbersome as their plan of currency figuring. To illustrate some of the complications of our present system of measurement it might be stated that there are taught in the schools now in his country and England has the following units: league, statute mile, nautical mile or knot, furlong, engineer's chain, surveyor's chain, rod, pole, perch, yard, foot, engineer's link, span, surveyor's link, hand, inch, line, and a whole lot more that we do not happen to call to mind at the present moment. At one time we learned all of these tables and knew the respective value of the different units, but we are willing to admit that a great many of them passed out of our mind years ago, and we must admit that we have hardly noticed the loss.

In the metric system there are the meter, about ten per cent longer than the yard, and its decimal derivatives all evaluated at a glance by a shift of the decimal point the same as in our currency system.

For the dry measure of volume, we now have, to make our confusion complete, pints, quarts, pecks, bushels, barrels, quarters and chaldrons. Moreover, our bushels, although nominally the same, actually vary according to the commodity measured, there being some twenty different sorts of bushels by the laws of America, from a bushel of bran weighing 20 pounds to a bushel of fine salt weighing 100. Add to this the fact that there is a difference of about 8 per cent between the British and American bushels, pecks, quarts, etc., and we attain the happy result that none can say precisely what are so many that there is just cause for desire to change. It would take a whole book to enumerate all the disadvantages of our present system of weights and measures, so that it is impossible to do it all here, but they are so many that there is just cause for desire to change to the more simplified metric system, even tho the change might mean a certain amount of work and confusion for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson expect to make Dexter their home in the future.

Why did I leave the farm, my dad? Why did you bolt and leave your dad? Why did you beat it off to town and turn your poor old father down? Thinkers of platform, pulpit, press are wallowing in deep distress; They seek to know the hidden cause Why farmer boys desert their farms. Some say they long to get a taste Of faster life and social waste, And some will say the silly chumps Mistake the suit cards for their trumps.

In wagging fresh and germless air Against the smoky thoroughfare. We've all agreed the farm's the pace So free your mind and state your case.

"Well, Stranger, since you've been so frank, I'll roll aside my hazy bank, The misty cloud of theories, And tell you where the trouble lies, lies.

I left my dad, his farm, his plow, Because my calf became his cow; I left my dad—it was wrong of course.

Because my colt became his horse; I left my dad to sow and reap Because my lamb became his sheep; I dropped my hoe and stuck my fork Because my pig became his pork;

The garden truck that I made grow Was his to sell but mine to hoe; It's not the smoke in the atmosphere Nor the taste for life that brought me here.

Please tell the platform, pulpit, press No fear of toll or love or dress Is driving off the farmer lads, But just the methods of their dad's."

COMMUNITY ENTERTAINMENT COURSE
—The Grand Rapids Community Entertainment Course to be given at the Opera House this season should attract all who like good entertainment. The programs are all of high class but "high-brow." Each attraction has proven its merit by years of experience on the Chautauque and Lyceum platform, and is backed by the oldest and strongest of Lyceum Bureaus, the Redpath. The series of entertainments will begin, Tuesday, November 18 when John B. Ratto presents his "Historical Review," a series of impersonations of famous men such as Lloyd Wilson, Foch, Pershing, Washington and Lincoln. The second number is given December 17 by the Edna Means-Anderson Company, a group of versatile young women in a costume sketch with a musical setting, in which they use Indian, Quaker and other old fashioned costumes. This company arrange all of their ensemble and "stunt" numbers, assuring absolutely new material. Perhaps the best known of the attractions is the Montague Light Opera Company which appears Friday 18th. They give a program featuring light opera in costume with many solo, duet, and quartette numbers. This is an organization without a "star" but the members of the company are equally good. The closing number is the Dunbar Male Quartette and Swiss Bell, Ringers appearing April 27. One of the features of their program is a group of original transcriptions in which are heard excerpts of beautiful songs sung by the players accompanied by the 150 hand bells which the company play. Season tickets for the four numbers will cost but $1.50.

E. Daly of the Daily Theatre has succeeded in persuading Linck-Jacoby Enterprises, under whose banner the film and the young women are traveling, to include his theatre in the short tour being made following the New York and Chicago engagements. FOUND NOT GUILTY
William John and Oscar Benz and George Reiter, were of Arpin, brought into Judge Pomeroyville's court last Friday charged by Henry Yerke, with assault and battery. There was an argument about one calling the other a "deadbeat" following which there was considerable talking between the men and according to Mr. Yerke they treated him pretty rough. The testimony failed to prove the fact, however, and a jury composed of John Brandt, James Bogie, Albert Arndt, Herbert Roach and Bert Smith found the defendants not guilty.

Scene from a Chocolate Soldier, Daly's Opera House, Friday, October 24

AT DALY'S THEATRE

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24th

The principal tenor of "The Chocolate Soldier," who sings and enacts the part of "Alexius," the egotistical hero is Jack Phillips, who played the "Chocolate Soldier" role in the company that went on tour playing Shaw and Straus' great comic opera. Mr. Phillips' career is indeed interesting, he being a Baptist minister's son who has a high place upon the lyric stage by reason of his excellent voice and pleasing personality. He played leading parts in "The Rose of Panama," "The Alaskan," and with Alice Neilson in "Kittie Darling." He was principal tenor for one season at the Tivoli in San Francisco, and has appeared in every American city where first class comic opera goes, and is a recognized favorite.

Another feature with this production is the chorus of singers which carried Mr. Dunbar, as a result of his many years of theatrical activity believes that every person on his payroll must deliver to the people that rally to his standard, his very best contribution to musical art, and besides must have that subtle grace which we call personality. The result is a company of cultured young people who sing gloriously in such numbers as "My Hero," and the stirring strains of this most tuneful chorus linger long with every music lover.

BURNING MONEY

By Walt Mason

Life is gay and blithe and sunny, since the peace dove hit the breeze; everyone is burning money just as though it grew on trees. I insist on thrift and savings, but there's none to heed my words; phonies say that I am raving, and throw money to the birds. Men are drawing princely wages, and their breasts are filled with mirth, and they jeer foreboding sages who predict a day of dearth; but that day will come as surely as tomorrow's sun will rise; things will then be going poorly with the giddy spendthrift guys. Things won't boom along forever as they're booming now, my friends; and the man who's truly clever saves as ably as he spends. It is patent to the knowing, in expensive times like these, that the kopecks won't be growing always on the shrubs and trees. There will come a day of trouble when this boom is left behind, and the kopeck and the rouble will be mighty hard to find; happy then the lads whose wages have been safely placed in time, who obeyed the sages and sages, when the saving graft was fine. And how sick will be the mortals who like spendthrifts now behave, who reply with jeers and chortles when we call on them to save.

THE USE OF HORSE FLESH

Pittsville Record—Dobbin, in his lifetime, may have worn black or white or tan, or even red, but when he passes over the most black and presents himself to the housewife in the form of steak or roast or anything like that, he will be decked in green. The meat inspection service of the United States Department of Agriculture, in order to comply with the provision of the law that horse meat shall be conspicuously marked has decided to stamp the meat with a harmless green ink. The Bureau of Animal Industry stamp is distinctly six-sided and bears the words "Horse Meat."

Horse meat is likely to be on the market in appreciable quantities shortly. A report has been received at the Department of Agriculture from Billings, Montana, that initial shipment of a lot of about 2,000 range horses has been received for slaughter. A report from New Mexico says that 50,000 range horses in the state should be slaughtered. An agricultural journal, recently commenting on the slaughter of horses for meat, said that the elimination of undesirable horses not only will save feed for more worthy cattle and sheep and increase meat stocks. Department of Agriculture experts say that hides from range horses that have lived in the open should be of excellent quality.

HORNS INTERLOCKED—DEER MEET DEATH

The remains of two buck deer with their horns interlocked were found in the woods near Manitowish recently. The animals had evidently been engaged in a fight when their horns locked together and being unable to free themselves, both died of starvation. That a terrific struggle had taken place was indicated by the condition of the ground in the vicinity. Old woodsmen say that it is not uncommon for deer to meet death in this manner.

Daily Thought.

MORE FISH PLACED IN LAKE WAUSAU

Wausau Pilot—Another consignment of game fish was brought to Wausau last Wednesday from the locked lakes on the Mississippi waters. The fish were taken by the members of the Wausau Wild Life and Protective association and put into Lake Wausau near the McLeary bridge. This makes the second catch placed in the lake this year. The fish consists of bass, croppies, sunfish, perch and cat fish. Our river has naturally plenty of pike and some muscullonge and eventually our lake will be an ideal place for fishing.

COULDN'T FIND PICNIC GROUNDS

At the good roads picnic held at the Brimmer farm near Kilbourn last week the absence of many from the smaller towns along the route was noticeable. However, this is explained to some extent by the Necedah Republican, which tells why Necedah people weren't there:

"Grand Rapids business men were responsible for a basket picnic last Sunday, but many from around Necedah missed the function because of the poorly arranged posters. The advertising posters gave the location of the picnic as the Yellow Banks on the Brimmer Farm. No one knew where the Brimmer farm was, but any old logger in town will tell you that the Yellow Banks are in the town of Armenia. Many went north to find the picnic, but it seems the picnic was held below Quincy. On account of the misunderstanding this section had no representation at the good roads picnic and missed what was probably an enjoyable program."

CABBAGE SEASON GOOD

Pittsville Record—The cabbage industry, one of the best of the Pittsville district, has begun to assert itself. Loads have begun to come into town. The greatest share of this is bought up by Ed. Clack and this is either shipped out immediately or stored in his cabbage house, near the depot. That being hauled to town now is shipped out as it comes, as Mr. Clack considers the weather too warm to store any great amount of cabbage. It is considered best off on the stump until the weather begins to tighten up with frosts every night.

The price for the Danish cabbage is now $15 per ton, delivered; that of the poorer grades, and kraut cabbage, less than half this price. The poorer cabbage has very little sale on the market, except that it is shipped direct to a kraut factory and during the warm weather it would have to be used immediately or spoil.

FOR SALE OR RENT—Farm town of Saratoga. Inquire of Mrs. Anna Matthews R. 6.

SCOUTING

There are a lot of boys around this neck of the woods right now who are wondering how they can be Scouts. So I am going to tell you. Joining the Boy Scouts of America is quite a simple proposition but being a REAL SCOUT is a hard job. To become a member of the Boy Scouts of America a boy must be not less than twelve years old and then he finds the nearest troop or patrol and signs up with them. Every church in Grand Rapids is going to have a Troop or a patrol of Scouts. So go to the pastor of your church and ask him about it. If there isn't a troop in your church, you can help get one started.

Now then, having found the troop or started one, there is still a lot of work to do. You must register. This means that you pay a fee of 25c which goes to the National Office and gets you a certificate of membership in the Biggest Boys Club in the World. You are now a Candidate not a Scout as yet. You must now pass the Tenderfoot Test and take the Scout Pledge or Oath as it is sometimes called and then you are really in. Of course you have just started on real Scouting but you are never-the-less a Scout.

You perhaps, want to know what this Tenderfoot Test is. All right here it is. First of all, you must know the Scout law, motto, sign, salute and the explanation of the Scout Badge.

2. You must know the composition and history of the National Flag and the customary forms of respect due it.

3. And tie the following knots; square or reef; the sheet bend; the bowline; fisherman's; sheepshank; halter; clove hitch; timber hitch; and two half hitches.

You then take the Scout Oath and are entitled to wear the badge of a Tenderfoot.

I will not give the entire Scout Law here as you can find it in the Scout Handbook which you will of course own. It will only cost you forty cents and can be gotten at the bookstore. I want to give you a little verse that was gotten up by a very good friend of mine, who was a good scout and a good soldier. He gave his life for his country and now lies "somewhere in France." This little verse has helped a lot of scouts to remember the Scout laws and that's what it was meant to do. You will notice that the first word of the line is the word of the Scout Law. Trustworthy Tommy was a Scout

Loyal to his mother
Helpful to the folks about,
Friendly to his brother
Courteous to the girls he knew
Kind to all his rabbits
Obedient to his teacher, too
Cheerful in his habits
Thrifty—saving for a need—
Brave, but not a faker
Clean in thought and speech and deed
Reverent to his maker.

HOW JANESVILLE GOT THE UNITED MOTORS CO. PLANT

There has been considerable discussion about the city during the past few weeks in regard to many of our local men going to Janesville, and how these could have been kept right here in Grand Rapids had local citizens encouraged the United Motors Corporation in locating their plant in Grand Rapids instead of Janesville. The rumor, which can be heard on any street corner, went on to tell how if Grand Rapids had given the company as much as Janesville did, they would have preferred to come here.

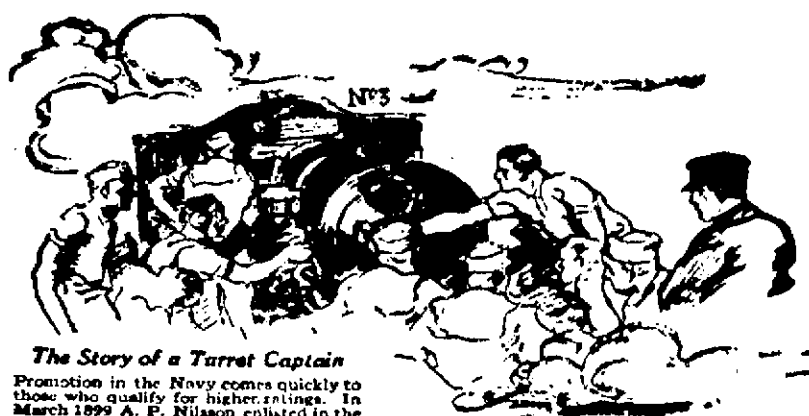

"Wm. F. Gleue, who travels pretty well over the state in his business, was down at Janesville last week and made it a point to find out how Janesville got the plant. He inquired from everyone he got into touch with from workmen to bank presidents, and substantially told the following story:

"Some time last summer a woman, who appeared to be wealthy, arrived in Janesville looking for a farm location. She stated that she wanted something close to the city and the real estate agents immediately got busy and sold her a strip of low land near one of the railroads. She bought lavishly, taking options on about one thousand acres of this low land after which she left town. When the options were up she returned and paid for the property. However, about this time she began to realize that this low land wasn't suitable for farming and told the real estate men so. They urged her to get some of the higher land around her present property, which was being farmed at that time. She did this and had secured about fifteen hundred acres by that time. She left the city shortly after that leaving real estate men and land owners who had sold her the land chuckling to themselves on how they had got rid of the land which was not considered very valuable, but which they had secured a good price for. A few weeks later representatives of the United Motors Corporation arrived in the city and started preliminary operations for erecting their building, to the surprise of the Janesville people."

The above story is circulated quite freely about Janesville and would indicate that they didn't do a great deal down there to get the plant to locate in their city. The new plant will probably triple the present population of Janesville.

Atrocious, Indeed.

One of the most famous—as well as one of the worst—puns of history was perpetrated by King James I of England, when Sir Walter Raleigh, whom for political reasons he disliked, was presented to him. Said the king, fixing Raleigh with his cold-shoulder eye, "Ravily! Ravily! True enough, for I think of thee very Ravily, mon!"

The Story of a Tarrot Captain

Promotion in the Navy comes quickly to those who qualify for higher ratings. In March 1899 A. P. Wilson enlisted in the Navy as an Apprentice Seaman, 3rd class. In April 1907 he was rated Chief Turbine Captain. His pay today is $165.76 per month.

A man's life—among men!

Recall them off—"Rio," Gibraltar, Ceylon, Yokohama—all the great ports of the world—are they only places on the map to you—or are they ports where you've gone sailing in from the high seas with every eye along the shore turned admiringly on your big ship—your ship! Every ocean has a United States ship sailing for some port worth seeing.

If you've any call in you for a full life—join, and color all your years ahead with memories of things worth seeing—with knowledge worth having—with an inexhaustible fund of sea tales and adventures picked up ashore and afloat—make you, a well-come ashore with level eyes—

Work—well, rather, with a bunch of men who know how to play. These comrades of yours carry in their ears the sounds of great world cities, of booming guns, of swishing seas—sounds you will share with them and that will never die away.

And when you come home, you'll face life ashore with level eyes—for Uncle Sam trains in self-reliance as well as self-respect. The Navy builds straight men—no mollycoddles.

Enlist for two years. Excellent opportunities for advancement. Four weeks holidays with pay each year. Shore leave to see inland sights at ports visited. Men always learning. Good food and first uniform outfit free. Pay begins the day you enlist. Get full information from your nearest recruiting station. UNDER STATE SUPERVISION

A CHECKING ACCOUNT PREVENTS LOSSES

A checking account puts order and system into your financial affairs. It enables you to keep a complete record of your income and expenditures. In a word, it is a modern way of paying bills.

And at the same time, it protects you against loss. Money carried in your pocket or "hidden" at home is easily lost or stolen. A lost check book is no loss. You can get another without cost.

A checking account at this bank is evidence of good business judgment.

BANKER-FARMER EXCHANGE

The Wisconsin Bankers Association has arranged for a Live Stock and Seed Exchange to be operated under the direction of Prof. D. H. Otis, formerly Professor of Farm Management in the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin.

This plan enables the farmer who wishes to buy or sell live stock or seed, to list them with the bankers and thus find a market.

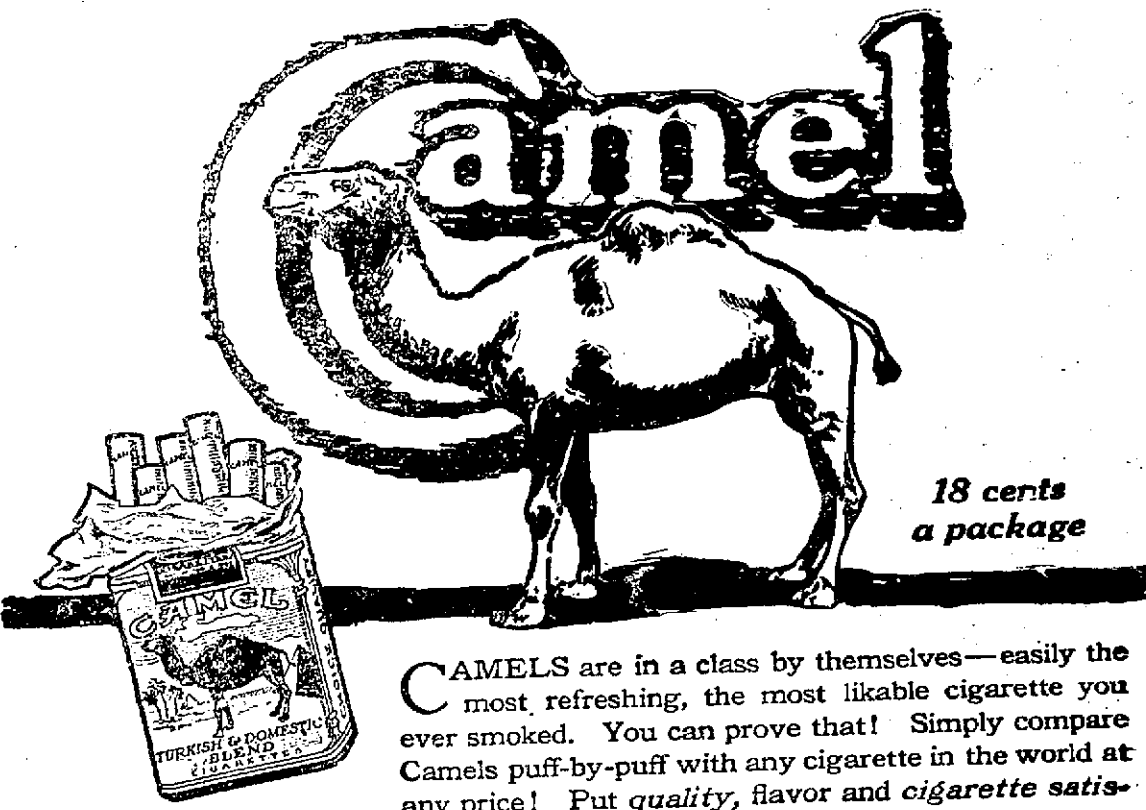

We have a supply of explanatory circulars and listing blanks which we will be glad to give you.

The plan is easy to understand and worth trying.

Come in and ask about it.

SAYS FARMER IS NOT PROFITEERING ON THE PRESENT PRICES OF PRODUCTS

The following article, taken from "Farm and Fireside" expresses a local farmer's idea on how the rural residents stand on the present prices of products:

"Who gets the money?" is a question underlying almost every argument nowadays. Accusing fingers are pointed at everyone who has to do with the production or handling of food, the farmer, of course, is the first to be blamed for the rising cost of all commodities. The city housewife has heard that many farmers actually own automobiles. What other proof do we need that farmers are getting rich? Then someone explains:

"Just think of it for a moment! A few years ago the farmer got 70 cents a bushel for his wheat, and now he gets more than $2. No wonder our bread comes high!"

Next comes the retailer's turn to be dealt a heavy blow. A government clerk has been reading an article on a modern city delivery system. He says:

"There are three times as many retailers as we need," he argues. "Little onehorse grocery stores are thicker than saloons used to be. The delivery wagons back up the streets chasing about with three tomatoes."

IN MEMORY OF DOUGHBOYS

Memorial Centers for Social Activities Are Preferred to Monuments.

Statistics just made public by the bureau of memorial buildings of War Camp Community service show the 254 communities in the United States have decided to erect buildings in memory of their men who served in the war. Of the memorial buildings to be raised, 132 will take the form of community houses, each to function as a free recreation and social center. Six of the structures will be municipal office buildings.

More than 700 American communities now are considering the building up of memorial buildings instead of shafts or monuments, the bureau of memorial buildings also announces. It is circulating throughout the United States for the community building type of memorial. Such an institution, the bureau feels, maintains a living influence in every community, and serves constantly as a reminder of the men the community gave to the national fighting forces.

Additional figures concerning the 254 memorial buildings already decided upon show that fourteen of them will serve as state memorials and that forty-four of them will be of the auditorium type. These will have social and recreational facilities in addition to large meeting halls, and for the most part will be in larger cities. Other memorials will take the form of hospitals, libraries, school buildings and church work centers.

Chauncey M. Depew is a great admirer of Ring Lardner and delights to relate an anecdote concerning the well-known sport writer and humorist. It was at a club in Philadelphia and a certain gentleman whom the crowd were trying to entice into spending the evening there declared he could not remain because he had promised his wife he would come home.

"I'll fix it for you," said Lardner, and darted into the phone booth. Presently he emerged shouting: "It's all right, old chap, your wife says you can stay!"

"How in the world did you manage to bring her around?" asked the amazed man.

"Easy," replied Lardner. "I told her you were roaring drunk and should bring you home or keep you here, and she said:

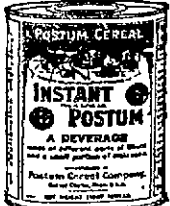

"You can have him, Mr. Lardner!"

"Flu" Is Coming Back This Year, Warning of Surgeon General

"Will the 'flu' come back this year?"

This question, being asked by thousands of scientists and millions of laymen, is discussed by Surgeon General Blue of the public health service in an official bulletin, in which it is said that the plague probably will reappear but not be as severe as last winter.

"Probably, but by no means certainly, there will be a recurrence of the influenza epidemic this year," says General Blue.

"Indications are that, should it occur, it will not be as severe as the pandemic of the previous winter. City officials, state and city boards of health should be prepared for a recurrence. The fact that a previous attack brings immunity in a certain percentage of cases should allay fear on the part of those afflicted in last year's epidemic.

"Influenza is spread by direct and indirect contact. It is not yet certain that the germ has been isolated or discovered, and there is yet no positive preventive, except the enforcement of rigid rules of sanitation and the avoidance of personal contact.

"We may expect at least local recurrences in the near future, with an increase over the normal mortality from pneumonia for perhaps several years, and certainly we should be, as far as possible, prepared to meet them by previous organization of forces and measures for attempted prevention, treatment and scientific investigation.

"There should be no repetition of the extensive suffering and distress which accompanied last year's pandemic. The most promising way is 'preparedness.' And now is the time to prepare.

"No mention has been made of a cure. So far as the most careful scientific investigations have been able to determine, none has been discovered, and suggested remedies which gave most encouragement are even now in their experimental stage.

"Evidence collected during last winter's pandemic points strongly to infected eating and drinking utensils, especially in places where food and drink are sold to the public, as being one of the modes of transmission of this disease."

SHANTUNG

Has 30,000,000 People; Size of Small State

If you wish to realize the blessings of your native land, where there is plenty of room and plenty to eat, go and look at the province of Shantung, writes Niksah.

Shantung has thirty million people, but it is no bigger than the state of Illinois. Not a scrap of anything is wasted in Shantung. The Chinese girls there weave the discarded pieces of their brothers into the hair nets that American girls wear when they go motorizing. The silk worm, which probably yields more wealth in proportion to what he eats than any other creature, is the most important domestic animal.

The great majority of the thirty million Chinese in Shantung just barely exist.

To add to the misery of this human mass, the ruthless Hwano-Ho river splits the province of Shantung with a yellow flood, which once a year rises over its banks, and kills and destroys. It is held back by dikes that tower above the homes of the poor, keeping them always in the shadow of death.

As everywhere else in the civilized world, an aristocracy, both oriental and European, sits on the shoulders of this impoverished yellow mass. Tsing-Tau, the chief port, is a sort of Chinese Atlantic City full of splendid hotels and homes, rich and beautiful.

Spider Is Credited With Being Original Inventor of Familiar Diving Bell

It is said that the diving bell was invented by the spider; at least, that it was used by that insect long before hydraulic engineers made one for the same purpose.

"The diving bell is a cup-shaped body, with an open end that is let into the water. The air is caught in the bell and the water from rising below and a certain level at any specified depth, permitting anyone inside to breathe.

The improvement of the diving bell known as the calisson is a huge pipe which has compartments, into which air is pumped from above. The spider's bell is filled more in this manner than in any other.

The spider's abdomen is so made that a bubble of air can be caught underneath it and carried into its structure. In this little water house the spider spends the winter and rears its young. The house also acts as a lair from which the spider, known as the nand, can jump on unsuspecting prey.

Another peculiar thing about the nand is that they never get wet. They have thousands of small hairs on their bodies which prevent the air from being washed off and which protect them.

That working will get you farther than whining.

That misery is rust on a mind that has stopped working.

That the smaller the mind, the longer it takes to make it up.

That he who lives without folly is not as wise as he imagines.

That the man who never does anything he doesn't like rarely likes anything he does.

That wit should be used as a shield for defense rather than as a sword to wound others.

Camphor Solution Used as Substitute for Clothing

A well-known Parisian, according to his own statement, for many years defied the weather by drinking a solution of camphor, which, in his opinion, was an excellent substitute for clothing. It was said that winter and summer alike found him sleeping without a particle of clothing, with the windows of his apartments thrown wide open. It was his custom also to stroll in the garden, even on bitterly cold nights, in a garment much resembling that ordinarily worn by normal people only at night.

Increase in Number of National Banks in United States

The steady growth of the national bank system was shown in a report by Comptroller of the Currency Williams for the first eight months of the year. Charters were granted 161 banks, with a capital of $15,475,000, and approval given for $31,985,000 increase in the capital of 235 banks. There remain under consideration 244 applications.

Average Life of a Tank in Battle Was 47 Days, According to Figures

The average life of a tank in battle was forty-seven days, and nearly one-half of the American fleet of seventy-eight were put out of action the first day of the Argonne battle. Brig-Gen. Samuel D. Rockenbach, tank corps commander, has disclosed these figures to the senate military committee in urging continued development of tanks, pointing out that damage to the tanks and casualties among the crews were light.

In August, 1917, he said, the United States had no tanks, but obtained 150 from the French in September. In the St. Mihiel fighting 417 French, British and American tanks took part. In the Argonne, while the American fleet of seventy-eight tanks was reduced to forty-eight the second day and to twenty-four ultimately, only six were hit by shells.

At one time plans were considered for equipping taxis with "tin can" tanks, but these were discarded. The tanks would be used in the fighting machines have to sight, so great was the fear of tanks.

Estimate Shows 8,000,000 Women and Girls Did Red Cross Work During War

The war achievement of the American women who are now being mobilized for the Third Red Cross roll call, November 2 to 11, is revealed in the announcement by Atlantic division headquarters that in two years they produced nearly 100,000,000 worth of surgical articles and garments. During the 24 months ending April 30 last, the figures show Red Cross chapter workers turned out 375,174,825 surgical dressings, hospital garments, refugee garments and knitted comforts for the soldiers and sailors, the estimated value of which was $98,184,359.

In number of articles produced, the Atlantic division ranks first among the 13 divisions of the national organization. The women of the three states—New York, New Jersey and Connecticut—produced 77,859,904 articles with a valuation of $15,597,428.

It is estimated that 8,000,000 women and girls participated in this tremendous work throughout the country, and it is among them largely that the Red Cross is now recruiting the 1,000,000 workers who will assist in the enrollment of members for 1920 during the ten days ending Armistice day, when a really universal membership will be sought to maintain the effectiveness of the organization built up in the war for the big peace program of the Red Cross.

THE OPEN WINDOW

My tower was grimly builded,
With many a bolt and bar,
"And here," I thought, "I will keep my life
From the bitter world afar."

Dark and chill was the stormy floor,
Where never a sunbeam lay,
And the mold crept up on the dreary wall,
With its ghost touch, day by day.

One morn, in my sudden musings,
Futter and cry I heard;
And close at the rusty casement
There clung a frightened bird.

Then back I flung the shutter
That was never before undone,
And I kept till its wings were rested
The little weary one.

But in through the open window,
Which I had forgot to close,
There had burst a gust of sunshine
And a summer scent of rose.

For all the while I had burrowed
There in my dingy tower,
Lo! the bird had sung and the leaves had danced
From hour to sunny hour.

And such balm and warmth and beauty
Came drifting in since then,
That the window still stands open
And shall never be shut again.

Honest Advertising.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher Honestly advertised, Honestly placed before the public and from which he Honestly expects to receive his reward.

Children Cry For Fletcher's

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for infants and children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

COMMUNITY ENTERTAINMENT COURSE
—The Grand Rapids Community Entertainment Course to be given at Daly's Opera House this season should attract all who like good entertainment. The programs are all high class but not "high-brow." Each attraction has proved its merit by years of experience on the Chautauque and Lyceum platform, and is backed by the oldest and strongest of Lyceum Bureaus, the Redpath. The series of entertainments will begin, Tuesday, November 18 when John B. Ratto presents his "Historical Review," a series of impersonations of famous men such as Lloyd George, Clemenceau, Roosevelt, Wilson, Foch, Pershing, Washington and Lincoln. The second number is given December 17 by the Edna Means-Anderson Company, a group of versatile young women in a costume sketch with a musical setting, in which they use Indian, Quaker, and other old fashioned costumes. This company arrange all of their ensemble and "stunt" numbers, assuring absolutely new material. Perhaps the best known of the attractions is the Montague Light Opera Company which appears Feb. 15th. They give a program featuring light opera in costume with many solo, duet, and quartette numbers. This is an organization without a "star" but the members of the company are equally good. The closing number is the Dunbar Male Quartette and Swiss Bell Singers appearing April 27. The features of the program is a group of original transcriptions in which are heard excerpts of beautiful songs sung by the players accompanied by the 150 hand bells which the company play. Season tickets for the four numbers will cost but $1.50.

Our 4th Anniversary Sale!

Four years ago when we opened in Grand Rapids a new era in selling MEATS at reasonable prices was established. When we opened our doors for the first time, Saturday, Oct. 30, 1915, a huge crowd entered to take advantage of low prices. SINCE THAT DATE THE PUBLIC HAS KEPT US BUSY, because they found that we always sell for less than our competitors.

Oct. 25, 27, 28, 29, 30.

FOUND NOT GUILTY
William John and Oscar Benz and George Reimer, all of Arpin, were brought into Judge Pomainville's court last Friday charged by Henry Yerke, with assault and battery. There was an argument about one calling the other a "deadbeat" following which there was considerable talking between the men and according to Mr. Yerke they treated him pretty rough. The testimony failed to prove the fact, however, and a jury composed of John Brandt, James Bogie, Albert Arndt, Herbert Roach and Bert Smith found the defendants not guilty.

JUMPED BOARD BILL
John Pike, who jumped a board bill at the Swarick Hotel, was arrested at New Lisbon Wednesday by Sheriff Buett. He was brought back and will have a hearing before Judge Getts this afternoon. The bill was about $16.
